

Centers for Disease Control

International Emergency and Refugee Health Branch

War-Related Injury Team: Mission Statement

- To collaborate on global public health efforts to prevent war-related injuries among civilians by developing and disseminating science-based knowledge and practice.

The Public Health Approach to War-Related Injury Prevention

What is CDC Doing?

- Assessing the problem
 - Supporting war-related injury surveillance systems
- Identifying the causes
 - Conducting surveys
- Evaluating interventions
 - Studying mine risk education programs
- Encouraging program implementation
 - Organizing trainings and conferences

Contact Information

David Sussman

cse5@cdc.gov

404 498-0079

